

Best Magician Who is Not Your Ordinary Magician

JEANETTE ANDREWS

With a background in science, philosophy and psychology that goes hand-in-hand with her vision to bring the art of illusion back to the prestige it held in the 1800s, contemporary magician and artist Jeanette Andrews, one of the few female magicians working full time, is not here to pull some street magic or children's party-type tricks. Instead, she's ready to mess with your perception for good. Manipulating seemingly supernatural forces, the master illusionist will interfere with your senses, making you doubt what you actually see, taste or smell. She will challenge you to a real-time, decision-making mind game. Her meticulously researched, highly interactive and sensory-participatory performances will leave you speechless and enchanted. Andrews is no ordinary magician. (Vasia Rigou) Jeanetteandrews.com

Best Lifestyle Blog to Keep you Inspired On and Offline

JESSIE BARBER OF MINI PENNY BLOG AND MICRO PENNY COSMETIC TATTOO STUDIO

Online since 2011, blogger, cosmetic tattoo artist and illustrator Jessie Barber describes herself as "seriously pink." But her pale pastel pink hair is not the half of it. Meticulously styled and with an eye for thrift store and secondhand finds, Barber, a social media celebrity, shares styling wisdom in her fashion and lifestyle blog, Mini Penny. It features everything from beauty tips and product reviews to fascinating nail art, daily outfits, urban or travel adventures and heartwarming pictures of Opal, her "three-year-old Muppet-esque poodle mix rescue." Barber also microblades eyebrows and freckles in her Chicago studio—the hottest eyebrow treatment around, where she draws tiny lines that look like actual strands of hair onto the skin using a blade-like tool. Think of it as a micro-tattoo sans the pain. Providing a more permanent fix for thin or poorly defined brows, it promises to change your eyebrows (and life) for good. (Vasia Rigou) Minipennyblog.com

Best Magician Who is Not Your Ordinary Magician

JEANETTE ANDREWS

With a background in science, philosophy and psychology that goes hand-in-hand with her vision to bring the art of illusion back to the prestige it held in the 1800s, contemporary magician and artist Jeanette Andrews, one of the few female magicians working full time, is not here to pull some street magic or children's party-type tricks. Instead, she's ready to mess with your perception for good. Manipulating seemingly supernatural forces, the master illusionist will interfere with your senses, making you doubt what you actually see, taste or smell. She will challenge you to a real-time, decision-making mind game. Her meticulously researched, highly interactive and sensory-participatory performances will leave you speechless and enchanted. Andrews is no ordinary magician. (Vasia Rigou) Jeanetteandrews.com

Dark
on Van Dyke
teen times.
released to story told by Van police Department.
Rahm Emanuel
not seek a third term
o.
Van Dyke guilty of murder, guilty of battery with a firearm, first of aggravated battery with a second shot; guilty of aggravated with a firearm, third shot; guilty of ed battery with a firearm, fourth guilty of aggravated battery with a n, fifth shot; guilty of aggravated y with a firearm, sixth shot; guilty of aggravated battery with a firearm, venth shot; guilty of aggravated battery with a firearm, eighth shot; guilty of aggravated battery with a firearm, ninth shot; guilty of aggravated battery with a firearm, tenth shot; guilty of aggravated battery with a firearm, eleventh shot;
guilty of aggravated battery with a firearm, twelfth shot; guilty of aggravated battery with a firearm, thirteenth shot;
guilty of aggravated battery with a firearm, fourteenth shot; guilty of aggravated battery with a firearm, fifteenth shot; guilty of aggravated battery with a firearm, sixteenth shot.
(Ray Pride)